Improved Heating Pot Is Aim of Growers

The large attendance of representatives from all over Southern California at a meeting called by the Ontario chamber of commerce on Tuesday evening, will work for the improvement of orchard heating and the possible elimination of orange, lemon and grape freezing in this section. When the meeting was called to order by Mr. J. W. Webb, president of the Ontario chamber of commerce, the first order of business was the presentation of a resolution passed by the growers of the Ontario district, calling for the improvement of orchard heating and the possible elimination of orange, lemon and grape freezing in this section.

A. Smith, president and general manager of the Ontario district, called the meeting to order. He stated that the growers of the Ontario district are interested in the improvement of orchard heating and the possible elimination of orange, lemon and grape freezing in this section. He stated that the growers of the Ontario district are interested in the improvement of orchard heating and the possible elimination of orange, lemon and grape freezing in this section.

A resolution had been prepared in advance by a committee consisting of J. W. Webb, president of the Ontario chamber of commerce, and other growers of the Ontario district. The resolution called for the improvement of orchard heating and the possible elimination of orange, lemon and grape freezing in this section. The resolution was passed by a large majority.

The approved equipment and that sufficient time should be given them to rebuild or replace their present equipment with some approved type, and suggested that at least 25 per cent of such equipment be brought up to requirements each year.

These resolutions, however, were tabled as soon as read and the meeting went on record unanimously suggesting that all efforts should be taken to prevent any legislation at this time on the matter of citrus heating and that the entire energies of the citrus districts of California should be devoted towards an educational propaganda leading to the construction of improved methods of heating pots. The meeting, which had been called primarily by those opposed to orchard heating under the present system, developed into an endorsement of the efforts now being made by the growers to heat their orchards, the conservative element recognizing that these men, as much as those of the city, are as anxious to eliminate the objectionable features of the pot at the earliest possible moment. The results of the meeting sounded a death knell to any legislation being taken upon this

Mrs. Thorpe Leaves Tuesday On Extended European Tour

Mrs. J. H. Thorpe is completing arrangements for an extended European tour for the purpose of study along musical lines. Mrs. Thorpe will leave Covina next Tuesday, the 10th, expect to be away from New York on the 15th. She will enjoy a stay with her brother-in-law, Mr. Frank Cannon, in New York city before embarking for Europe. Mrs. Thorpe will be accompanied by Mrs. Ellen Beach Cannon in Paris.

Women's Relief Corps Officers Are Installed

Mrs. Emma Sprague, McNeley, Rodgers, Mitchell, Decker, Quincy, Pollard and Barnes represented the local corps last Monday night. Redlands, Emma Sprague and the McNeley being installed as officers. Following the business session in the forenoon, the meeting was addressed by the secretary of the chamber of commerce and the principal of the high school, also by Rev. Snively of the First Methodist church of Redlands. The two former speakers requested that a committee be appointed from the Redlands corps to work in conjunction with them in combatting the silent groves which were attempting to undermine our government. The principal of the high school stated that an attempt was being made to abolish patriotic songs from the public schools, and on his recommendation, by unanimous vote the secretary was instructed to forward a protest to State Superintendent Wood against such action. Dinner was served to 150 delegates.

Mrs. Emma Sprague was installed as president and the McNeley as secretary.

PARENT-TEACHERS WILL HOLD PATRIOTIC MEETING

Tuesday evening, Feb. 10, the grammar school Parent-Teacher association will hold a patriotic meeting in the school auditorium at 3 o'clock. The program will be on "International Good Will." Mrs. George Michener of El Monte will read a paper on that subject and the school children will present songs and exercises appropriate to the occasion.

Do not fail to visit the Orange Blossom Inn, Valley boulevard at Bassett, for good eats. Chicken and steak dinners our specialty. Dancing. F. C. Brown, prop.

A large number of growers were present from the Covina district, the Covina chamber of commerce being represented by I. Worth Everett and Edwin Jobe. Henry Damerel, manager of the Riley packing company, one of the large citrus growers of the upper San Gabriel valley, was a member of the committee on resolutions and participated actively in the deliberations of the meeting.

Chamber of Commerce Holds Quarterly Banquet

The first quarterly dinner and open meeting of the Covina chamber of commerce for the present year, held on Thursday evening of last week in the large dining-room of the Masonic temple, proved in every way an unqualified success. Over two hundred sat down to the prettily decorated tables.

The gathering was presided over by George F. Rinehart, vice-president of the Covina chamber, who, in his customary happy way, proved an ideal toastmaster for the evening.

The dinner itself was in charge of W. J. Evans as chairman of the committee, who spared no pains in providing for the inner comfort of those who attended. The music was furnished by a local orchestra of Dean Johnson at the piano, James Hodges, banjo, and Ralph Krueger, saxophone. Their music was thoroughly enjoyed during the service of the meal. The musical readings of Mr. Spooner were hugely enjoyed.

At each plate was placed a bulletin showing the activities in which the chamber had been engaged during the year. The activities included an advertising campaign, the supplying of new uniforms for the Covina city band, the raising of funds for the Salvation Army, maintaining a booth at the county fair at Pomona, the construction of the new road through the San Jose hills, connecting with the Valley boulevard, the widening of the road to Pomona through the hills, the financing of the new Covina hospital, and the promotion of an intensive campaign on orchard heating and frost protection. This latter activity alone, said the toastmaster, more than warranted the expense and existence of the Covina chamber of commerce for the past three years.

The speaker of the evening was William G. Farrell, formerly of Salt Lake City and a resident of Los Angeles county for the past three years. In addition to being a very pleasant speaker, Mr. Farrell is recognized as an authority on statistical matters relative to the growth of both nation and state. His entire address was devoted to the growth of America as a nation and Los Angeles county during the last decade. He said in part:

In 1923, the United States paid taxes on $320,000,000 of property, more than one-third of the taxable property of the entire world. Our closest competitive nation, Great Britain, has had a history of over 1000 years as against our 149 years in the United States, and yet this nation has only $179,000,000 of taxable property.

The United States takes out of the earth and produces 43 percent of all the coal used in the world and uses 53 percent; it produces 53 percent of the iron and uses 51 percent; copper 49 percent and uses 41 percent; cotton 69 percent and uses 37 percent; shoes 41 percent and uses 39 percent. Of this latter item, $29,000,000 worth was used in the metropolitan district of Los Angeles last year and yet this district manufactures only one-tenth of one per cent.

The United States manufactures 92 percent of the automobiles of the world and uses 90 percent. At Santa Barbara and Figueroa streets, Los Angeles, more autos pass in 12 hours than at any other place on earth—40,389. We have 50 percent of the world's railroads and 75 percent of all the telephone wires. This is what five per cent of the population of the world has done in the United States.

Los Angeles has one per cent of the population of the United States and three years ago that city spent $82,000,000 in buildings; two years ago, $121,000,000 and last year $200,133,000. In 1924, California increased $580,000,000 in taxable property. Of this, $418,000,000 is credited to Los Angeles county.

The increase in the number of taxpayers in Los Angeles in 1923 over 1922 was $2,000, bringing an increase of $106,000,000.

Los Angeles' program of expenditures for the coming year is $50,000,000 for street paving, $10,000,000 for harbor improvements, $83,000,000 for school houses, $28,000,000 for telephones, and $35,000,000 for flood control.

Los Angeles has grown in manufacturing for the past four years from

PHILANTHROPO WORKER IS RECOVERING FROM OPERATION

The many friends of Mrs. Mary M. Coman, of North Citrus avenue, will rejoice to learn that she is reported as progressing nicely from a serious operation which she underwent at the Covina hospital Monday morning. The operation was of a major character, but with no unforeseen relapse, it is expected that she will be on the road to recovery in two or three weeks.

Mrs. Coman has been prominent in all philanthropic work in Los Angeles county for a number of years, being a member of the County Welfare committee. She is also the editor of the California White Ribbon, a state organ published in the interest of the W. O. T. U. Her latest work in the Covina district was the organization of a Sunday school class of boys which has grown so rapidly that arrangements were recently made for holding this class in the Masonic temple, as none of the churches are provided with a class room capable of filling the needs of this large body of boys of grammar and high school age.

D. A. R. Members at Musical on Tuesday

The daughters of the American Revolution enjoyed a pleasant musicale on Tuesday at the home of their regent, Mrs. W. M. Warren, on North Citrus avenue. Miss Lucie Warren, accompanied by Miss Adeline Shaw, of Pomona college, played a group of cello solos, "Chanson Triste," "Elegie," and "Am Meer." Miss Shaw also gave a piano solo, "Gavotte."

A trio composed of Miss Warren, Miss Shaw and Miss Ollie Jones of Glendora, violinist, played "Cavatina" and "The Moment Musicale."

Mrs. Dorothy Dukes Nelson, accompanied by Mrs. Henry Damerel, sang two groups, "June Roses," "The Builder," and "The Picture"; also "Sleepy Hollow" and "The Star-Spanned Banner."

These gifted musicians, all personally known to the members of the chapter, were greatly appreciated. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

LARGE ATTENDANCE MARK CHAMBER LUNCHEONS

The chamber of commerce luncheon Tuesday noon was notable for the increased attendance, forty members being present. This large attendance is undoubtedly due as a reflection of the interest in the chamber work.

$300,000,000 to $1,100,000,000 in manufactured goods last year.

The speaker in concluding his remarks said: "Southern California, and Los Angeles particularly, is going to hold the torch of leadership to all the balance of the world."

January Permits Show Activity in Building

Building permits in the city of Covina for the month of January total $12,675. The most important is the permit issued January 28th to the trustees of the Presbyterian church for the erection of a parsonage on Second street, adjoining the church, at a cost of $5000.

Other permits issued during the month are: to Mrs. Boyd of Los Angeles (a daughter of T. W. Fuquay), a $1500 residence;

Andrey L. Sloan, L. L. Sloan, builder, a 3-room cottage on lot 5, College street, in the Beardsley tract;

Cecil Freeman has a permit to build a residence at 211 East Puente;

Wm. Seal is building a $2000 residence at 411 E. Badillo;

W. W. Seymour will erect a series of steel garages at the rear of his residence at 140 East College street;

Mrs. E. Cook, at Second and Badillo, and B. H. Ashford, at 437 W. Center, are making small repairs to their residences.

DE MOLAY CHAPTER HAS CHARGE OF CHURCH SERVICES

The local chapter of De Molay was in charge of church services held in the Baptist church on Sunday morning.

Frank Howard of Monrovia, student for the ministry, and a member of the order, gave the evening address on the subject, "The Essentials of a Man."

Also included in the service were two cornet solos by Claud Pollard and several quartet numbers from the De Molay quartet, composed of George Burrell, Tol Coman, Jim Reed, and Alfred Leonhardt.

LOCAL YOUNG LADIES ON TIMES BROADCAST PROGRAM

Two young ladies of Covina have been appearing this week from radio station KJL, the Los Angeles Times. Miss Dorothy Hendrix appeared Thursday at the children's hour with cornet solos, and on Friday Miss Helen Broadwell gave vocal solo numbers.

Early Days In Covina

TEN YEARS AGO

Miss Leta Nash of Charter Oak will be the choice of the associated chambers of commerce of the San Gabriel valley as queen to preside at receptions given throughout the year.

Rainsoaked orchards in splendid shape. Rivers ran in boulevards for a time. Frequent pauses in storms relieved the anxiety of disastrous floods. Season fall is 12.78 inches.

Big residence burns during ruin. The Pitcairn residence, just south of the Jacob Maechtle home, burned Tuesday night under circumstances that remain mysterious. The loss is computed at $7,000, with partial insurance. It is thought that the fire caught from a defective flue. The estate was one of the beautiful places of the valley.

Mrs. Roy Funk and twins of Perris have been visiting friends in Covina this week.

Mrs. W. A. Viney entertained Wednesday with a daintily appointed luncheon and sewing bee in honor of her sister, Miss Gertrude Elliott, who recently announced her engagement to H. E. Milliken of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Koch and Miss Angie Houser made a trip to Mt. Lowe last Thursday.

Damage to the amount of $4000 was done to the Baldwin Park power station last Friday when the building was struck by a bolt of lightning.

Monday morning an order went into effect which turned over to the Pacific Electric company the mail service contract formerly held by the Southern Pacific from Bassett to Pomona. This will effect the towns of Covina, Charter Oak and Irwindale.

Sherman Taschner, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Taschner, has been quarantined with diphtheria.

Mrs. W. W. McCready and little daughter of Perris valley are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trawick.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The total orange shipments from Covina for the season up to January 31st are 307 cars. It is estimated that one-third of the crop has been moved from this section.

During the last three months, some of our citizens have been diligently examining the hills south and east of Covina for oil and as a result papers of incorporation of the Covina Valley Oil Co. have been filed. The company has secured valuable leases and privileges on 2000 acres of land.

A petition to the board of supervisors has been recently filed for the abandonment of a portion of Rowland avenue. This a 100-foot avenue with a row of trees planted down the center and petitioners ask that the trees be removed and the street narrowed to 60 feet. A large protest has been filed against it.

W. H. Hepner met with a serious accident on Friday evening last by colliding with a horse and buggy on his wheel, sustaining a broken rib and other minor injuries.

Rev. J. W. Utter will move next week into a handsome cottage he has recently erected on East College street.

The ladies of the Episcopal church held a guild tea at the home of Mrs. A. J. Wilkins on Thursday afternoon.

C. Hebler leaves tomorrow for England, where he goes to offer himself to Her Majesty, Queen Victoria, for active service in the Transvaal. He already has two brothers at the front, one of whom left his ranch in Wyoming at the beginning of the war.

Mrs. A. C. Clark of Highlands who has been visiting her relatives in Covina for the past two weeks, returned home yesterday.

E. B. Carrier has moved his extensive law library from Los Angeles. It consists of over 600 volumes, complete in every respect.

Bebe Daniels Will Feature Week's Shows

"A Cafe in Cairo," which comes to the Covina theater tonight (Friday) and tomorrow, and which stars the inimitable Priscilla Dean in one of her characteristic roles, is a pulsating drama of the mystic land of the Nile—that glamorous country where Cleopatra wove her magic spell. This is said to be a story which intrigues and fascinates.

A film that the Los Angeles Examiner describes as a gem during its run at the Metropolitan is "Miss Bluebeard," starring Bebe Daniels. It will be shown at the local playhouse Sunday and Monday nights. It is droll, it is brimful of piquant spice, it is genuinely provocative of that sort of laughter born only of sheer, unalloyed delight.

In "Locked Doors," here Tuesday and Wednesday, Theodore Roberts is said to have created another "Grumpy" role. The film marks Roberts' return to the screen after a year's absence, and the veteran actor gives a portrayal of an old invalid which takes its place beside his previous hit, "Grumpy."

For Thursday night only, the principal film offering bears the suggestive title, "One Law for the Woman." This is an action and thrill picture.

OVERHEAD IRRIGATION PLAN SPREADING IN THE SOUTH

In order to complete the investigation of overhead irrigation now being carried on by Prof. H. A. Wadsworth of the division of irrigation investigations of the state university, directors of the Los Angeles county farm bureau, at the quarterly meeting January 22, requested the college to provide additional funds in order that the work may be finished according to the original plans. The studies are regarded as exceedingly important, particularly to the citrus and avocado growers. This type of irrigation is spreading rapidly in southern California.

Mr. Earl Coolman, Mrs. Gladys Johnson and Mrs. Genie Henry, in celebration of their birthdays, served refreshments to the Rebekah lodge Thursday night, after the regular session.

Amphion Club Meets at B. F. Thorpe Home

The Amphion club, the oldest musical organization in the valley, enjoyed a musical treat last Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Thorpe. Ben Whitman, violinist of Los Angeles, recently from London, gave several numbers, and also played the violin obligato to "Salutation to the Dawn," by Frederick Stephenson, and "Ava Maria," by Gounod, which were sung by Miss Frances Havlin of Covina. Miss Havlin also sang "My Abode" and "My Peace Thou Art," by Schubert, responding as an encore with "The Brooklet," by Mary Carr Moore. Miss Georgiella Lay was the accompanist of the evening.

Mrs. Thorpe was assisted as hostess by a committee, of which Mrs. Ben Milliken was chairman.

ISSUE NEW SERIES OF HOLY TRINITY BULLETINS

The first of the third series of bulletins are now off the press for the Church of the Holy Trinity. They are an improvement upon previous issues, and the February number contains a letter from the rector, the Rev. W. A. Archibald Shipway, in which he expresses his thanks to those who have made the publication possible. Confirmation provides a short article, and the parish register and some apt verses for the choir complete the issue. A list of the vestry, etc., is provided. An excellent picture is presented of Mrs. Henry Damerel, organist, and of the whole choir grouped outside the church.

These bulletins are issued monthly, and a postal from any interested friend will secure a copy regularly.

SCHWARZE BUYS RANCH IN VENTURA COUNTY

Sharpshooters Added to Picture Program

Barbara La Marr in "Sandra," will be the chief attraction for the Mission theater, Glendora, tonight (Friday) and tomorrow night. "Sandra," a story of a woman whose double-edged heart causes her to wreck her home and seek love amid the gayeties of European capitals, but finally finds love on her own doorstep. Bert Lytell plays the opposite lead.

As a special feature tonight (Friday) and tomorrow night, there will appear at the Mission, Tommy Ray and wife, Bea Ray, said to be the champion sharpshooters of the world with a 22-calibre rifle, in a series of death-defying shooting stunts. Both have appeared in big-time vaudeville all over the country, it is stated, and Ray holds 397 medals for expert shooting, besides other big medals received in France during the late war. The climax to their performances is a dark shooting stunt when Ray by the light of a candle shoots from his wife's mouth a chip the size of a quarter.

Mr. Ray is also a fine tenor and singer, and his numbers make a big hit with audiences.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, "Abraham Lincoln," called the screen's greatest drama, will be shown for three nights. George Billings' impersonation of the great president starts Lincoln's lifelong friend, Senator Cole, so true was the characterization. Mr. Billings plays his part to perfection, and not only acts Lincoln, but lives Lincoln. It is a picture of interest to young and old alike.

"Frivolous Sal," starring Mae Busch and Eugene O'Brien, will be the attraction for Wednesday and Thursday nights. Frivolous Sal was some gal; she fought for the man she loved; a dazzling dance hall girl who shook the garments of jazz palaces and donned a bridal veil after she had won, but not until a thousand dangers were overcome. A notable cast supports Miss Busch and O'Brien in the leads, including Mildred Harris, Mitchell Lewis, Tom Santini and Ben Alexander.

REAL ESTATE ACTIVITY NOTED IN CITRUS GROVES

There has been some activity in citrus groves during January. Mr. Summerfield Douglas sold his ten-acre ranch on East Badillo street to Wallace Graham. The R. L. Douglas grove on Baranca street has been purchased by Willard A. Runyan. Both of the purchasers are young men who expect to make their homes on the ranches. Both families will be valuable assets to the community.

OBSTACLE REMOVED FOR NEW ROAD TO LOS ANGELES

J. L. Matthews, chairman of the road committee of the chamber of commerce, received a telegram on Monday informing him that the state railroad commission had that day granted a permit for the grade crossing across the Southern Pacific railroad track at the intersection of Columbia street, El Monte, on the Valley boulevard.

By this action the last obstacle has been removed to the construction of the new direct road from El Monte to Baldwin Park, paralleling the south right-of-way of the Pacific Electric railroad, which will shorten the distance between Covina and El Monte by nearly three miles. This link will connect with the Garvey boulevard running from El Monte to First street, Los Angeles. This new road is expected to relieve the present congested condition of the Valley boulevard.

The first district extends from Bonita on the north to San Francisco on the south; from Highland avenue on the west to Puente street on the east.

They have rented the H. A. Weiden cottage on San Bernardino road.

TOO MUCH SPEED ON CORNER CAUSES AUTO TO OVERTURN

An accident occurred at the intersection of Grand avenue and Section Center about 2 p.m. last Wednesday which, according to a bystander, was purely negligible. Fortunately, however, outside of a cut on the man's leg, no one was injured.

Statement of Covina Chamber of Commerce:

The merchants of Covina, with their adequate stocks of well-selected merchandise, have combined to extend the trade territory heretofore served by them, and offer exceptional bargains and modern shopping facilities to their customers.

Covina desires to make the city more hospitable and pleasing to strangers, and more useful as a trading center to the community round-about.

The merchants are progressive, and you will find their stores and shops full of the latest creations in the various lines, their stocks fresh and new, with nationally known and reliable merchandise, and the values are always well worth the prices charged.

The chamber of commerce of Covina therefore has no hesitancy in saying that you will be well treated, and that the values offered for this occasion will be well worth your visit to Covina.

DR. DEXTER WILL SPEAK BEFORE LOCAL HI-Y CLUB

Dr. Walter Dexter, president of Whittier college, will address the local Hi-Y club on next Tuesday evening, February 3rd. Members of the Hi-Y clubs of the Citrus union and Bonita high schools will meet with the Covina club, as well as a number of local visitors. The club is very fortunate in having Dr. Dexter address the meeting, and a very interesting evening is anticipated.

On Friday evening, February 6th, the local Hi-Y will present the Whittier college glee club in the Covina grammar school auditorium. Tickets are being sold for the event.

LIONS WILL STAGE ANNUAL FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

An important decision was made at the Lions club luncheon on Monday, when President Tom Reed announced that the club would hold a Fourth of July celebration in Covina—a yearly event staged by the Lions club. Preparations will be under way in the near future to make this event a success. The proceeds this year will probably go toward putting in cement tennis courts in the city park.

Miss Alice Wright entertained the members with several pianologues and generously responded to an encore.

VALUABLE LOT OFFERED AS BUILDING SITE FOR ARMORY

Dallas Young, who became a resident of Covina in its pioneer days, some thirty years ago, and who, through industry, has acquired a valuable lot on East College street, between Citrus avenue and Second street, has exhibited a spirit of public generosity which will stand as a marked example of good citizenship so long as Covina is on the map. Mr. Young has offered his fine lot to the Spanish War Veterans, of which he is a member, and the American Legion as a site for the construction of an armory, retaining for himself a life estate in the small house which he has recently completed on the rear of the lot.

Committees from these two organizations have been at work and plans will soon be announced for the construction of the building, which will also be used by the local G. A. R.

Mission Theater Will Offer Special Features

"It Is the Law," is the offering at the Mission theater in Glendora tonight (Friday) and tomorrow night, featuring Arthur Hohl, popular Broadway stage favorite, and Mimi Palmieri in a melodrama of love and intrigue.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, the petite star, Viola Dana, a favorite with all, will be starred in "Along Came Ruth," the kind of story that pleases 'em all—full of pep and action and romance. Supporting Miss Dana in the lead is Raymond McKee. Others in the cast include Tully Marshall, Walter Heirs, Gale Henry, Adele Farrington, and others.

Appearing on the same bill is "The Battling Orioles," with Glenn Tryon. The story deals with baseball life in 1874 up to the present time and a number of famous old actors appear in the comedy.

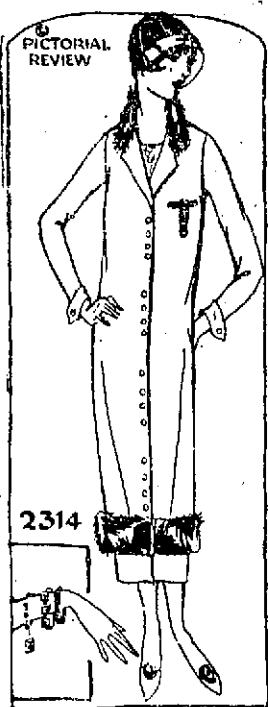

Wednesday and Thursday the Mission presents, "So This Is Marriage," with Conrad Nagel and Eleanor Boardman, two screen favorites. It is the old story of a wife who tires of the humdrum existence of married life and her family, and seeks new pleasures. Lew Cody also plays an important role. The Evelyn Kincaid comedy players will also present a comedy on Wednesday and Thursday nights.

IN SOCIETY

The American Legion has arranged a rousing meeting for February 8th, at 7:30, at the K. of P. hall. The Pasadena post will be over with a fife and drum corps of over thirty members.

David J. Reese, veteran editor of Ventura county and Masonic grand master of the state of California, was a visitor at the Argus office on Tuesday. He was returning from an official visit to the Masonic lodge at San Bernardino, having spent Monday night at the Covina Masonic Home, of which he was trustee prior to his elevation.

DISCUSSION, TALKS, MUSIC FEATURE W. C. T. U. MEETING

Last Friday afternoon at the Matthews home on Navilla Place, the local white-ribboners met for their regular meeting, with some sixteen present. Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, who is deemed a great acquisition by the Covina organization, has accepted the superintendency of the evangelistic work and led in the devotion service. Reports of various committees showed much steady work being accomplished. Since the national and state slogan is a million children lined up with temperance ideals this year, plans were made to do intensive work in the Covina Sunday schools as well as to have temperance essays written in the grade and high schools.

Mrs. Matthews gave an interesting report of her work in the county jail, where she is one of a group of Christian women who regularly carry a service of song to the prisoners.

Following a quiz upon the state paper, a presentation of both state and national legislation especially interesting to temperance workers was given, followed by discussion.

Under the business of the afternoon, it was decided to have, for the remainder of the W. C. T. U. year, but one meeting a month, with especial effort to have that meeting both practical and inspirational as well as well attended. The next meeting will be the second Friday in February, at the home of Mrs. Emma F. Edwards, West Center street, of which further notice will be given.

The music of the afternoon was given by Miss Elin Anderson, who sang two selections in excellent voice. Accompanied by Miss Lucy Wheeler, Miss Anderson's first selection was "My Task," which was so heartily appreciated that she graciously responded with a happy little rose song.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS' SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK

Last Sunday at the Masonic temple, where the Sunday school class of the Presbyterian church meets regularly, fifteen boys of Mr. Martin's class from the Methodist Sunday school of similar age were guests of the Presbyterian boys. With twenty-eight of Mrs. Coman's boys there, the combined classes made a fine showing. After chorus singing about the piano—and splendid singing it was—all assembled in the parlor, where brief speeches were made by the presidents of the two classes, Jim Reed and Edward Coman, and the two teachers, Mr. Martin and Mrs. Coman, followed by the lesson of the day. An invitation for the Presbyterian boys to meet with the Methodist class on the first Sunday in March was given and accepted.

The success of this first getting together of the two Sunday school classes of high school boys has resulted in a movement by five of the teachers, Boyden G. Hall, Forrest Manning, Mr. Martin, Charles L. Hanson, and Mrs. Coman, to occasionally, perhaps once in two or three months, have a group meeting of the five classes, with a fine speaker—a specialist for boys of this age—and a good leader to take charge of the singing. Mr. Ben S. Millikan, supervising principal of the high school, is in hearty sympathy with the plan and will assist in every possible way, feeling that such a group of boys would be a power for good both in school and the community.

PARLOR MUSICAL WILL BE HELD AT ASHFORD HOME

Miss Ruth Ashford will give another musical Saturday at the home of her parents on West Center street. Mme. Maria de Santy Riedel, mezzo-soprano, and Ubo Riedel, Holland violinist, will present a program. Mme. Riedel has had a broad experience as a singer in concert and opera, in addition to an extensive teaching experience. She has a studio in Monrovia and is interested in opening a studio in Covina. Mr. Riedel was the pupil of Carl Flesch, Hungarian violinist. Before coming to America he made successful concert tours for six years through Holland, Germany and England. He is concert master of the Monrovia Community orchestra this season.

DE MOLAY BOYS WILL TAKE CHARGE OF CHURCH SERVICE

Sunday evening, February 1, Glencosa chapter of De Molays will have charge of the evening service at the Covina Baptist church at 7 o'clock. Frank Howard, a Monrovia boy, will preach on the subject of "The Essentials of a Man." The De Molay quartet will take charge of the vocal music, and Claude Pollard will render several cornet solos. FRACTURED FOOT RESULT OF BOOTLEG WHISKEY

Jack Erskine, a good-looking young fellow from San Francisco, is in the Los Angeles county hospital nursing a fractured foot and concurrently serving a fifteen day sentence for drunkenness. The young man ran up against a bootlegger in Baldwin Park on Tuesday and became so bilious that he thought he could stop passing automobiles by hanging on to the radiators. The results were disastrous to Jack and he landed in the Covina jail and appeared before Justice Reed on the following morning, somewhat the worse for wear. He stated that he only purchased half a pint, from which he had taken two drinks.

Mrs. Sherman Gail is confined to her home on Third street with scarlet fever.

Christian Science Is Subject of Lecturer

Robert Stanley Ross, C. S., a member of the board of lectureship of the Mother Church, Scientist, Boston, Mass., addressed a large audience in the Covina grammar school auditorium, Tuesday evening. His theme was, "Christian Science: The Religion of Reality." He said in part:

Christian Science is demonstrating that it is the Christianity of Jesus made practicable to-day. Now as of old it is showing mankind how to escape from all evil. No matter how long one has been ill, no matter how deeply one may be involved in sin, no matter how heavy one's burden of sorrow, poverty, or care, Christian Science joyfully points the way out,—not through death and the so-called hereafter, but here and now. The Bible tells us that the kingdom of God, the kingdom of heaven, is at hand, here, and now; that now is the day of salvation; that now are we the sons of God. Christian Science might well be called the religion of now; for, instead of exhorting us to wait until tomorrow, or next year, or the next world for salvation, it lovingly invites us to partake to-day of God's infinite goodness. All the possibilities of being are always here and everywhere. How could they be otherwise in view of the nature and ever-presence of God, infinite good? Consequently, is "God with us,"—a God who is absent only to those who believe He is absent.

Christian Science shows us that all the sin, disease, sorrow, poverty, and death in the world are due to error, based upon the supposed reality of this delusion or mist, that God either sends or permits evil. But even a human parent would not permit his child to walk into the meshes of temptation, inflict an incurable disease upon him, nor kill him in order to show affection for the child,—no, not even to compel obedience. If not, how far removed from such inhumanity must be our heavenly parent to whom John refers as Love, and of whom Jesus says, "Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God: for God cannot be tempted of evil, neither tempteth he any man." Other Biblical passages of similar import could be cited; but the foregoing should be enough to convince any reasonably-minded person that God does not visit condemnation and punishment upon mankind. Obviously, He does not need to do so. Error will destroy itself so long as one believes in the reality of the unreal.

Furthermore, the Bible tells us that Jesus came to do the will of the Father and to destroy the works of the devil. By studying the gospels, you will find that the Master spent most of the time liberating those who were in bondage to sin, disease and death. If these errors were real,—that is, if they were of God,—Jesus would have destroyed God by destroying them. But the very fact that Jesus could and did destroy them proved beyond question or possibility of doubt that God was not their author. True, God made all that was made, but the Bible tells us that He made it all good. Are sin, disease, and death good? Did you ever hear anyone say he was glad to do wrong, to be sick, or to be in pain? Sin, disease, and death are not good, hence not of God; therefore they are unreal, and you can begin right here and now to resist your own and the world's belief in them—a belief that is mis-called law, although there is no law, divine or human, behind it—and be free. Knowing the powerlessness of evil once its unreality is understood and opposed, the apostle wrote: "Resist the devil and he will flee from you."

LITTLE ARLETE ROOT HOLDS CHARMING PIANO RECITAL

A pleasing drawing room event was a piano recital given by Arlene Root, the eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Root, on Thursday evening of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. George on Second street. The little musician, who is a pupil of Mrs. Belle Harris, played four groups, "The End of a Perfect Day" (Bond) and "Holy City" (Adams); "Narcissus" (Nevin) and "O Sole Mio" (De Capua); "Whispering of Love" (Kinkel) and "La Paloma" (Yradies); "The Robin's Return" (Fisher) and "Arkansas Traveler" (Anon).

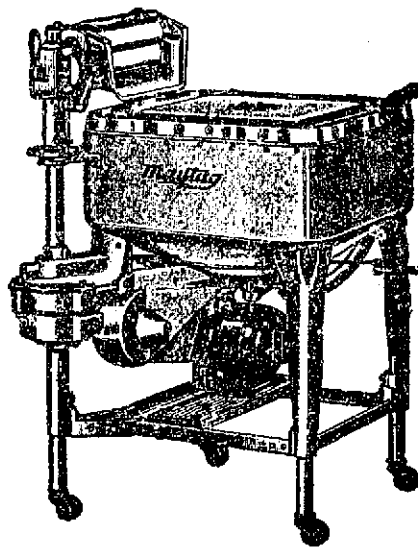

Assisting were Mrs. Claire Hammond, vocalist; Mrs. Ray Nimmaman, reader; boy's quartet, composed of Henry Marshall, Tom Burks, Herschel Daugherty and Hubert Shoemaker, and Helen Harris, who gave four musical readings. Henry Marshall also gave a baritone horn solo. Accompanists were Vaneel Marshall and Arlene Root.

This recital is the first in a series to be given by the pupils of Mrs. Harris.

WALNUT GROWERS REQUEST FROST STUDIES BE MADE

Because of the outstanding assistance rendered the citrus growers in cold weather by the United States weather bureau through the frost forecast work, and because of the need of similar help in certain walnut districts, the walnut growers' department of the Los Angeles county farm bureau, through the board of directors of that organization, have requested the United States weather bureau to extend the frost study work now being carried on in the citrus districts to the walnut districts.

An effort will be made to insure the starting of the work this spring when the blooming period is on. Not much is known concerning the critical temperatures for walnut bloom and the problems connected with the heating of walnut orchards are different in some respects from those in the citrus orchards. It is to secure this much needed information that the request has been made.

THE KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS ENTERTAIN THEIR LADIES

The Knights of Pythias entertained the Pythian Sisters and their families Thursday evening of last week at the lodge hall with a dance and five hundred party. There were about seventy-five present, the evening proving a very enjoyable one. Several selections were sung by a trio consisting of James Hodges, Jr., Will Edgett and Dean Johnson, while Hodges and Johnson furnished the music for the dance. Ice cream, cake and coffee were served by Ernest Anderson, Louie Hodges and Elmer Atkinson.

This is the first of a series of social gatherings which the presiding officer, W. C. Edgett, expects to put on during his term of office.

To Our Friends---

Let's get together and build for a bigger and better community.

It's inspiring to be a booster. And it's decidedly worthwhile. No matter how big or how small it may be, a community that receives the whole-hearted and enthusiastic support of its people invariably forges ahead at an increased pace.

First, all of us can seize every opportunity to put in a good word for this city of ours—show that we are proud to live here and work here.

Second, each of us can get behind the various forms of community activities and put a shoulder to the wheel.

Third, we can all buy at our local stores, where well-selected stocks and the best of service are always to be found.

Cooperation by all for a greater community progress will bring individual opportunity, business success; and prosperity for everybody.

It's our city—let's boost it!

The Building of a Community

Men have made long speeches and men have written long articles anent the vital matter of community building, but one of the shrewdest and best yet to appear is that of C. E. Ashburner, who says as follows:

Natural advantages do not themselves build prosperous communities. They possess no automatic force. This is demonstrated throughout the land. When seeking a foundation upon which to build a community we must look for something else. An analysis of the elements of development discloses that no community rises above the general level of its citizenry. With this predicate confronting us, it is clear that in any work of community building, first thought must be given to the mental attitude of the inhabitants.

The majority of people in every community are right thinking. High-minded and well-meaning human beings who can be relied upon to do the right thing when the right thing is logically, clearly and sensibly and sanely presented to them. Therefore, the first essential is proper salesmanship; this accomplished, the ambitious community puts its best foot forward.

The first idea to be sold to the community is that the ultimate success of each individual is dependent upon the prosperity of the community (as a whole). We all need to absorb the fact that it is not the little momentary recognition or praise that we get, or try to get, as individuals, for some particular act, that has lasting results. We know, or should know, that people soon forget. The things that call for commendation today soon pass from the memory of man. It is only the self-recognized fact that we have been connected with the upbuilding of the community that lives unto a permanent reward. If you will think for a moment of the big things in the way of city, county, state or national building that have been accomplished in the past, you will find it almost impossible to recall any individual act of those who have participated in the work. We remember only the names associated with the project. Even though we may look at a matter with selfish eyes, and through a desire to make a name for ourselves, it becomes obvious that the desire for personal aggrandizement is not the way to accomplish even our selfish ends. It is better for us, and better for our city, if the things we do are unselfishly done, and done in the full desire to help make our place a more desirable locality in which to live.

Another primary step in community building is to sell to the people the idea that no man's religion, politics or influence entitles him to special coddling by the community, nor should it prevent him from procuring anything to which he is justly entitled.

The prosperous individual does not necessarily make the prosperous community, but the prosperous community does give the individual a chance to succeed. The ground for success has been prepared and the seed planted which will enable the people to successfully develop and take advantage of whatever good things may have been bestowed upon them by the Creator.

None So Good as Home Merchants

The home-town merchant has a friend in Ragsan Tatters, who leaps into print now and then to give a knock-out to those who spend their filthy lucre in foreign fields. His latest, like his previous, hits the nail kerab on the head. He says:

"Folks! Mid pleasures and palaces though I may wend, I find the home merchant a much-valued friend. The mail order catalog woos me in vain, for to pay without seeing brings me a pain. The home merchant credits 'till pay day arrives; he knows all the whims of his friends and their wives. His overalls wear like the buckskin of old, his buttons ain't brass if he tells you they're gold. Of every community he is a part, and even the kids know the path of his heart; he boosts for the chapel, the lodge and the school; community uplift is ever his rule. And even the football and basketball team look kindly at him in their athletic dream. I'd rather have him at my elbow each day than to deal with someone furlongs away. Let's make the thing mutual, and stand by our friends; there's no place like home for the money we spend!"

Irrigation Lessons of Drouth of Last Season

By FRANK ADAMS
Irrigation Investigations, University of California

For the grower, an increased realization that satisfactory irrigation practice must be based on knowledge instead of guesswork for the irrigation of the orchards, a higher appreciation of the ideals of conservation—these stand out as the important lessons learned in California from the unusually dry year, 1924.

In my brief irrigation review a year ago, attention was called to the better understanding among growers of the principles of good irrigation practice. The first of these principles is that the way to get irrigation water into the soil where the roots of growing crops can use it is to put it there, and the way to know whether the method of application being used is putting it there is to find out.

During 1924, finding out where applied irrigation water has penetrated has been uppermost in the minds of progressive farmers all over the state. For instance, farm advisors reporting at the annual agricultural extension service conference in Berkeley early in January stated that 165 meetings were held during the year in 32 counties of the state for the discussion of soil moisture problems. Of these, 56 were field demonstrations of the penetration of irrigation water conducted by the extension specialist in irrigation for the college of agriculture with an aggregate attendance of 1,800 farmers. The farm advisor of Orange county alone conducted 34 soil moisture meetings during the year and reports that 60 per cent of his farm calls during the year dealt with some phase of soil moisture or irrigation practice. Officials of power companies supplying current for irrigation pumping as well as officials of irrigation districts and companies joined with growers in showing interest in these meetings and demonstrations. The publicity given to these soil moisture and irrigation activities, practically all of which involved boring or trenching into the soil to learn where irrigation water had or had not penetrated or where it was needed, obviously induced many individual irrigators to seek the same kind of information on their own farms.

One of the outstanding facts that has been recently established by the irrigation workers of the college of agriculture is that soil moisture conservation below the upper six or eight inches of soil is chiefly accomplished by removal of weed growth rather than by continual stirring of the weed-free top soil. The year 1924 has been a good year for growers to apply this information by early in the season getting rid of moisture-robbing weeds and turning under cover crops where irrigation supplies were short. Reports coming in indicate that the dry year has clinched this lesson for many growers.

The drouth of 1924 has not only served to emphasize particularly the importance to growers of basing their irrigation practice on what they learn about soil moisture in the rooting zones of their own fields by themselves exploring below the surface; it has greatly increased interest in new methods of applying irrigation water—methods that sent to the growers to promise more efficient irrigation. Two cases in point relate to overhead spray irrigation of orchards and to contour irrigation of orchards. Interest in the first of these has been particularly manifest in the southern counties, while the most requests for information regarding contouring have come from the foothill and coast counties. As a result of this attitude of the growers, special research projects covering these two subjects have recently been organized by the division of irrigation investigations and practice of the college of agriculture, in part in cooperation with the agricultural extension service, and four members of the college staff are now in the field engaged in these studies. The college of agriculture desires to be able to give expert advice regarding the relative cost, efficiency and economy of these methods of irrigating orchards.

Better conveyance of water on the farm and better preparation of land for irrigation always have been and always will be basically and directly related to good irrigation practice, as well as to injuries resulting from over-irrigation. The dry conditions of 1924 have aided in emphasizing this through the necessity of making scant irrigation supplies go farther than usual. The whole question may be illustrated by what took place during the year on a Kings county farm whose owner, when the shortage began to be felt, believed it necessary to put down another well. Instead of doing that, he was induced by representatives of the college of agriculture to line his farm distributing ditch and reduce the size of his irrigation checks, and the water supply he already had carried him through nicely. There is no force like necessity to bring home the lessons of economy and good business.—California Cultivator.

LOCAL REPRESENTATIVES OF GAS COMPANY AT DINNER

Several representatives of the Southern Counties Gas company, headed by District Superintendent Chas. G. Spencer, will attend the annual Southern California "get-together" dinner of the Pacific Coast Gas association which is to be held Monday night at Hotel Alexandria, Los Angeles. Besides Spencer, Mrs. Spencer, W. T. Haynes, our local manager, and wife, F. P. Raymer, chief clerk at Pomona, and wife, E. B. Morey, H. Stanley Hutchins, sales engineer, and wife, W. L. McKee, district foreman, and wife, John R. Ott, W. L. Geldert and wife of Ontario, will attend.

This event is an important one in the annals of the western gas industry in that the American Gas association of New York city has sent a delegation of more than twenty executives to the coast. These officials, all of them heads of gas companies or appliance organizations, after visiting San Francisco, will arrive in Los Angeles Monday morning. The day will be devoted to sessions and several programs.

The local company is represented by F. S. Wade, superintendent of operation, A. F. Bridge and M. R. Thompson, engineers, Frank H. Bivens, general agent, formerly district superintendent of the local company in the Pomona territory, R. M. Banyard, membership committee, Clyde H. Potter, publicity committee, and N. R. McKee, purchasing agent, arrangements.
